WASHINGTON, March 26.—House leaders today made plans for swift action on the senate-approved resolution authorizing a joint congressional investigation of the Tennessee valley authority.

Chairman O'Connor of New York of the house rules committee issued a call for hearings on the measure to start Monday before his committee.

Majority leader Rayburn said the house would probably receive the resolution from the committee Tuesday or Wednesday and act on it immediately. Passage by the lower chamber was regarded certain by majority whip Boland.

His Resolution To Georgia
When congressional action has been completed, plans called for the resolution to be flown to Warm Springs, Ga., for President Roosevelt's signature. Advocates of the investigation hoped to have the probe under way by week after next.

Although the rules committee was also slated to consider several pending house minority resolutions, administration spokesmen indicated the senate-approved measure would be accepted.

They pointed out substitution of a house measure for the senate resolution would necessitate sending the legislation back to the upper branch where the wounds of compromise effected yesterday by warring factions might be reopened, thus further delaying the probe.

Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, ever whose protests the senate finally approved the resolution in joint.

Pa. News saw a man out today gathering dandelion greens, which many consider a rare delicacy. This is the first crop of the season.

There were a pair of robins and a pair of sparrows "flitting" around the porch steps of an empty house on Highland avenue. They were probably going into "house-keeping" and looking for a nice place to locate and occupy it as "two families."

Sitting up "like a judge on a bench" on a porch on Crawford avenue, was a pump squirrel, eating a raw potato. He was through eating it, he turned around and camptered to the lady standing on the porch, and took another potato from her hand, and repeated until it was well filled. The lady stated that she had placed a handful of potatoes on the porch a couple of days ago and a blue jay came and took them.

Birds At Game Farm Lay Eggs, Set Record

In the spring a young bird's fancy turns to thoughts of laying eggs. But the thoughts seldom materialize as early in the spring as they have this year at the Jordan State Game Farm near Harrisburg. Already there is a whole basket full of pleasant eggs at the farm, thus setting an all time record.

Spring, you will remember, was ushered in last Monday, March 21. It was only fitting and proper that the first egg should be laid on that day, and laid it was. Then on Wednesday there were two more discovered, and on Thursday, four more.

All of which means the egg laying season at the game farm is full underway. In a short time hundreds upon hundreds of eggs will be gathered from the fields daily.

Assert Few 'Refugees' Will Be Given Chance To Leave Nazi Nation

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Only a light influx of Austrian and German immigrants may be expected from this government's offer of asylum to victims of Adolf Hitler's Nazism in the enlarged Germany.

Even if all the 29 countries invited joined the U. S. in setting up committees to facilitate evacuation of these political refugees, Germany's vice-like anti-emigration net will permit few to slip through. Those few that do will be faced with virtual pauperism as the price of departure from Germany and newly-conquered Austria.

Two Reasons
There are two reasons for this. First, Hitler wants no escape of German wealth. Second, his representatives here in Washington frankly admit he wants no foes of his.

BERLIN, March 26.—Diplomats once more looked apprehensively in the direction of Czechoslovakia today as a result of the warning by Chancellor Hitler that Germany will take action outside her own borders again if necessary.

In a speech delivered in the east Prussian metropolis of Königsberg, Hitler delivered his first appeal to the Austrian plebiscite campaign, and warned:

"National socialism's idea of justice goes far over the frontiers of little Germany. No one can check this development.

"The national socialist doctrine will become the political creed of all Germans."

This was taken as an outspoken reference to the problem of German minorities in Czechoslovakia and other European countries.

Hitler also bade the 50,000,000 voters of Germany and Austria to March with him toward attainment of greater Nazi power in Europe.

He summoned the people of Germany and Austria to display their solid approval of his annexation of Austria in the April 10 plebiscite and thus to make him the "father of the greatest army in history."

President Seeking To Have Quiet Week-End

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 26.—Thrusting aside international and domestic problems which for two days had interfered with planned vacationing in his "second state" President Roosevelt today began what he hopes will be a quiet week-end.

In turning his attention to getting the rest he came for, Mr. Roosevelt temporarily forgot his reaffirmation of America's traditional policy of offering a safe harbor for members of European political minorities to the limit of immigration restrictions.

Forgets Pressing Problems
He also turned his back—even more temporarily—upon domestic problems, the most pressing of which is the current business recession. At his press conference yesterday Mr. Roosevelt expressed concern over the problem of capital loans for business, particularly small business, and also revealed that he will study proposed bank holding company legislation during his stay.

HOLLYWOOD, March 26.—Kay Francis will abandon her screen career to become a good wife when she marries Baron Eric Barnekow, German nobleman.

"Termination of my present contract with Warner Brothers in September also means the termination of my career," Miss Francis, one of Hollywood's most famous and most beautiful stars, told International News Service today in an exclusive interview.

"I shall not marry Eric until my contract expires, because I have made up my mind that when I marry him I shall devote myself to being a good wife, to considering only his wishes and his plans. Don't you think that is a woman's duty?"

"No date has been set for our wedding yet, but probably it won't be until late in the fall."

"I shall never make another contract with a motion picture studio. I might someday make another picture, but that would hinge upon many circumstances. For one thing, I never would make one if Eric objected in the slightest, or if it inconvenienced his plans in any way. If I were offered a tremendous role and Eric wanted to go to China, then we would go to China."

The cabinet, according to a Barcelona announcement, discussed the internal situation of Loyalist Spain and the entire Loyalist aspect.

At the same time, the Loyalist defense ministry issued a communique admitting further losses on the Atotonilco front from San Julian to Mas De Las Matas despite desperate resistance by government troops.

The communique confirmed insurgent claims that Franco troops, pouring across the Ebro river, had extended their grip on the north bank and had captured Badajoz. The insurgents claimed the government troops retreated without offering resistance against Rebel occupation of the city.

Oak Street School Lad Cops Bird House Honors; 'Y' Crowd Sees Judging

A handsome rustic when house built by an Oak street school pupil, William Dunt of 803 Butler avenue, won grand prize honors in the city-wide bird house building contest when City Forester Owen Penfield Fox selected winners at the Y. M. C. A.'s well-attended "open house" celebration last night.

Over 300 "Y" boys and their parents and friends jammed the downstairs of the association building to watch the judging before enjoying the many lively events which had been planned for their entertainment.

The throng, which arrived about 7 and remained until late, was one of the largest the "Y" has played host to.

Association staff officers, headed by General Secretary Robert L. Meermans, were present to supervise the events.

The bird house exhibition, popular with the crowd all evening, proved one of the star features of the night. Assisting Mr. Fox in the judging were Wesley Hite, president of the Knights Templar Phalanx fraternity, the "Y" group which sponsored the competition, and Paul Gilbert, mentor of the group.

Parents were afforded opportunity during the evening to observe typical Gray-Y club programs, to watch tumbler and other gymnasts in the gym and to watch youthful swimmers demonstrate their aquatic prowess.

Other bird house prize winners named by Mr. Fox and his aides were:

For houses entered by those over 12—James Minnick, R. F. D. 5.

For houses entered by those between 10 and 12—First, Edward M. Allister, 405 S. Spruce street; second, Bob Pitzer, 303 Hillcrest avenue; third, Bill Pascoe, 423 Elizabeth street; fourth, Edward Van Dusen, 1035 Adams street.

For those under 10 years of age—First, Eugene Rigby, 723 Court street; second, Eugene Pascarella, 514 Norwood avenue; third, Donald Swadner, 704 Cumberland avenue; fourth, Paul Radkowski, 1112 Butler avenue.

Girls who won—First, Wilma Cavill, 421 Summer avenue, and second, Peggy McGill, 1316 Wilmington avenue.

Awards will be formally presented to winners at the Monday evening program of the Knights Templar Phalanx group in the "Y" at 7.

Mr. Fox, who is to locate the bird houses in the city parks later, will speak.

Jones Launches His Campaign

Speaks To Large Crowd At Home Town In Perry County Last Night

NEWPORT, Pa., March 26.—Pennsylvania and this Perry county village of his birth had Charles Alvin Jones' own keystone pledge today for "the maintenance of liberal government" if he is elected governor.

This was his theme here last night in inaugurating his Democratic gubernatorial campaign at a "homecoming" rally of ex-neighbors and friends and Democratic leaders from all parts of the state.

Surrounded by other members of the organization ticket, the Pittsburgh attorney sounded the importance of the inter-dependence of business, industry, labor and agriculture and said:

"Those who would upset the balance between agriculture, labor, industry and business; those who would prevent further adjustments where necessary or seek to restore old inequalities are already at work."

"As a candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, I stand squarely on the platform adopted by the Democratic state committee and will use every honorable means within my power to render its provisions effective. I will keep faith as the Democratic party has kept faith with the people."

Jones' address to the crowd of some 6,000 persons who filled Newport town square was one of scholarly restraint.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The stock market today made a slight recovery from the initial wave of selling, but recovered most of its losses before the close.

Overnight accumulation of selling orders, scattered by the opening, was the main reason for the initial decline. The market recovered its losses, however, and prices were generally steady throughout the two hours.

Large declines were in the minority, with most changes limited to a point or two. Allied Chemical and the P. & W. each dropped 2 points before meeting support, while Case fell 3 at one time.

Leaders, as Bethlehem U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Anaconda, Consolidated Edison and U. S. Rubber, were close to last night's high levels at the close.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The stock market continued under heavy pressure today, dropping 1 to 3 points into new low ground since 1937.

Support was not and selling tendencies were displayed in the first hour, in the persistent pounding of several groups was resumed before the close.

ELLWOOD CITY, March 26.—A wide assemblage of friends and neighbors were deeply shocked and grieved at the sudden death of Mrs. L. Roelofs, aged 64 years, who died at her home in Wurttemberg, Pa., at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening.

She was an active member of the First Baptist church, a captain of the Ladies of the G. A. R. lodge, and a member of the Wurttemberg W. C. T. U.

At 6:30 o'clock the group, numbering 60, were seated at long tables and served a most delicious fish dinner by the ladies of the grange. Wives of the members were special guests.

Each member participated in the devotional period after which Mrs. L. Schweitzer, the president, had charge of a brief business meeting. A variety of diverting games and contests held the attention of the group until an appropriate hour when the hostess assisted by her sister, Miss Salice Hazen, served the guests a dainty repast.

Mrs. Hazel French invited the members to hold their next meeting on Friday evening, April 8, at her home, in Spring Avenue.

ELLWOOD CITY, March 26.—With a good attendance, members of the G. A. R. Ladies Lodge assembled last evening in the V. P. W. hall in Fourth street for their March meeting, which proved to be most enjoyable.

A social hour followed with a most delicious lunch being served by the committee of the ladies, Mrs. Myrtle White, Mrs. Mary Duncan and Mrs. Birdie Smith.

Wurttemberg Church Fathers And Sons—Guests At Dinner—Splendid Address Given By Judge W. Walter Brahm, Of New Castle.

ELLWOOD CITY, March 26.—Calling the era, especially in Scotland, when the oldest member of the clan ruled the entire family relationship, Judge W. Walter Brahm of New Castle, as the guest speaker of a fathers and sons banquet at the Wurttemberg U. P. church on Friday night, contrasted and lamented the decline of family relationships today.

He urged every son and his dad to be proud of their ancestors, stressing the fact that many of the world's greatest men came from the humblest homes. Speaking briefly of his experiences as Judge, Judge Brahm explained that many of the rugged cases that come before him are those of unfortunate boys and young men, who have no family background, many the children of divorced parents and divided homes.

Fathers were urged to establish a comradeship and understanding with their sons and concluding emphasized the importance of Christian consecration in every home. The splendid address was greatly appreciated and enjoyed by the 50 fathers and sons that attended. Charles Mohr gave the invocation and Rev. J. E. Caughey, pastor of the church, presided as toastmaster. Under the leadership of Robert W. Taylor, group singing was enjoyed for a period. A toast to the fathers was given by John Junior Caughey.

For the dinner the group was seated at nicely appointed tables, featuring a spring theme with daffodils and pussy willows making up the flower arrangements. The affair was held under the auspices of the Mary Braden Circle of the church and members of that organization served the tempting dinner. All in all the affair was a fine success and paved the way for making like events an annual custom.

ELLWOOD CITY, March 26.—Mrs. Roy Rutter was pleasantly surprised on Friday evening when a circle of friends and relatives numbering 40, assembled at her home in Wayne township, to aid in celebrating the occasion of her birthday anniversary.

After best wishes had been extended, the hours were kept merry with games and music occupying the attention of the guests throughout the evening. An added feature was the serving of an appetizing lunch by Mrs. Rita McGinnis, Mrs. Ruth Fosnight, Mrs. Clarence Smiley and Mrs. Arthur Wehman. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smiley and Miss Ruth Smiley, of New Castle, and Mr. and Mrs. Omar Fosnight and children, of Wauquipp, were of town guests.

Mrs. Rutter was presented with an assortment of lovely gifts as remembrances of the happy occasion.

WASHINGTON, March 25—By a coincidence, just after writing an article dealing with the peculiar political status of Senator Burton

K. Wheeler of Montana I got this query:

"Has Senator Wheeler an extraordinary number of relatives and in-laws on the federal payroll?"

The senator, in a recent speech in Boston, remarked, "I do not have a son who is in the insurance business, nor has one of my sons married a daughter of mine." He also spoke of the evils of government patronage and pay.

The article undertakes to make this comment come back and rest at the senator's own office door.

CIVIL SERVICE JOBS

All right.

It is true that Wheeler has a son, a son-in-law and a nephew holding government jobs and that his daughter did formerly hold one.

All these jobs, however, were acquired on a civil service basis, by competitive examination. They were won by high standards. They were obtained on the aspirant's merits.

Unless the quizzes were deliberately cracked, which I do not believe. Wheeler had nothing to do with the various appointments.

KIN AS SECRETARIES

Wheeler's sister is his senatorial secretary.

Two or three hundred senators and representatives have relatives as their respective secretaries.

Senator George W. Norris' son-in-law is his. Senator Kenneth McKellar's brother is his. Senator

William Borah's son is his. Senator Joseph R. Burton's son is his.

Senator H. Vandenberg's son is his.

I could run the list up indefinitely.

President Roosevelt's son is one of his secretaries, for that matter.

STEWART'S PREFERENCE

My personal theory is that a senator's secretary should be in very close touch with his or her home environment.

We have in Washington a company of professional congressional secretaries. They do not come from any particular place in the country—they are more Washingtonians. And they are jealous of professional secretaries.

I like the provincial kind best.

They are not mere stenographers;

they know what they are talking about, even if the boss happens to be otherwise occupied.

SOONS AS LABORERS

Wheeler does have a couple of college student sons who work in Glacier National park in vacation time.

But they are day laborers.

And they say that the senator has a shank there; his opponents refer to him as a "residence" where he can camp out thus in the park.

NO PATRONAGE

Wheeler has, as a matter of fact, a scrap of liberal patronage.

Because of his opposition to the Roosevelt administration, his recommendation of a candidate for a federal appointment is an iron-clad guarantee that the bird so designated won't get the position.

"Pap?" Hokey! He's blacklisted.

REACTIONARY?

I do not think that Wheeler has turned reactionary, either.

On certain issues he is anti-New Dealish.

I cannot see that that proves him to be reactionary, except on the ground that anti-New Deal-ism automatically is reactionary.

I know him pretty well. I take him to be as good a liberal as to say a violent radical as ever.

I said in my last article concerning him that he is becoming prominent. These last cracks at him seem to me to be confirming evidence of it.

In Moscow, several families, as a rule, share a community kitchen in which they do their cooking.

John Dewey Severs is making another try for a parole from the western penitentiary where he is serving two terms of life imprisonment for murder. The terms run concurrently by the way. Severs has an appeal for a new trial before the state supreme court in Pittsburgh on Monday and in his pleadings he says the verdict of first degree murder was against the weight of the evidence. He produced witness, who said he was insane at the time of the murder. The commonwealth he claims produced no rebutting testimony and hence arrests his contention of insanity was good and no verdict should have been reached for first degree murder.

Severs killed his wife Estelle

Katherine Rodgers on July 25, 1929 in an automobile on Route 422 near Parktown Corners. He was tried in December 1929 and convicted. About two years ago he insisted upon a trial on the second charge of murder and again was convicted and got life imprisonment.

He feels that if he could get a new trial on the first charge and get an acquittal that he might get a parole on the second charge. Former District Attorney Mont L. Alley will probably represent the commonwealth in the hearing in Pittsburgh on Monday inasmuch as he tried the second case and is familiar with all the facts.

A record book is never too old but that it is used in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John

A. Edgar. The first marriage license book ever to be used in the county was called into use on Friday for purpose of reference. The marriage license law was passed in 1885 and on October 5, 1885 license number one was issued by Joseph T. Campbell, the father of late Ralph M.

Campbell. Joseph T. Campbell was the Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts then.

The license was issued to Edward

West Hayes of the City of Allegheny and Ellie Jane Allen of Wampum.

Down in the basement of the court house there is a WPA project going on that should perform a long needed service. M. J. Donovan and Earl M. Corcoran are putting the old records into shape, filing them in order and then preparing an index of where they are. On Thursday Carl Goedeke, regional director for Pennsylvania and Delaware of the historical survey work along with John C. Funk of Philadelphia and Wilbur S. Barker of Harrisburg inspected the work being done.

The work of preparing the 12,000 tax lien records which has been under way for many months is beginning to work forward to a conclusion. Thus far the WPA workers have used 90,000 work sheets in their preparatory work.

Justice of the Peace Scott Kildoe of Slippery Rock Township was a visitor in the court house Friday, making a wedding return. It was his first wedding as a J. P. Mr. Kildoe was deputy county controller for four years.

A system of requisitioning supplies more exacting than it has been heretofore is being put into service by the county commissioners. In the future when any department wants any supplies ordered they must first get the materials requisitioned through the county commissioners and the commissioners will purchase what is needed.

A new adding machine is being purchased for the office of Register and Recorder Orville Potter at a cost of $153.

Within a short time the advertisements for ballots for the primary election on May 17 will be authorized. This year the printing cost may be a trifle higher than it was last year due to the fact that in every precinct there will be candidates for county committee on the Republican and Democratic ballots.

Bids will be opened Tuesday or

Wednesday by the county commissioners for the painting of the corridors of the court house. A number of bids have been received and because this is quite a job the bids are apt to be close.

These afternoons that are warm the clerks in the prothonotary's office get visitors. The squirrels come in through the open windows and sit up on their haunches and beg for peanuts. Just now they are burying the peanuts and the lawn looks like a miniature battle field.

County Commissioners Floyd L.

Colton, George H. Bolinger and A.

R. Turner spent Friday inspecting the bridges which are the property of the county. Nothing has ever been done to replace the Harris bridge which was knocked down a year or more ago into the Slippery Rock Creek. This is a state bridge but the state seems to have forgotten it. In the meantime farmers of Wayne and Perry townships as well as truckers getting coal in the Porterville field are handicapped. It is understood a petition will be circulated soon among the farmers of the district asking that a new bridge be installed.

AROUND
CITY HALL

Two of 10 motorists who violated the ordinance governing the operation of parking meters here each paid a fine of $1.00, when Mayor

Charles E. McGrath conducted traffic court at police headquarters

Friday afternoon. The others gave what Mayor McGrath considered legitimate reasons for being excused from paying a fine. One person, from out-of-the-city, said she was under the impression that those who do not reside here, could park free.

His Honor replied that there is no rule here to that effect. However, he courteously told the woman she did not have to pay a fine in view of her misunderstanding of the law.

Due to Oil' Sol' beaming rays it is now possible to keep the door to the police garage open. During the winter the police garage is a rather cold place. During summer time it is cool and police or office assignments rest there pending a request for their services.

Members of the city's legal staff have been instructed to prepare contracts between the city and firms which secured awards for furnishing material which will be used in the construction of the North

Mercer Street-Edwards Avenue sewer which will be almost one mile and one half in length.

MISS VOGLE HOLDS MEETING

An all day meeting was held Wed-

Miss Vogle helped the ladies in tive one.

At noon a buffet lunch was served.
